

History

Chair, Professor A. Winquist
Professors R. Jenkinson, S. Messer, W. Ringenberg
Associate Professor T. Jones
Assistant Professor T. Hoskins

The history department engages students in the systematic study and interpretation of the recorded human past, thereby promoting life-long learners who have a clearer focus on the impact of the past on the contemporary world. By understanding historical legacies, students are better prepared to minister the love of Jesus Christ in redemptive ways to the world in which they live.

In its curricular activities, the history department aspires to:

- Enable students to understand both the “what” and “why” of major historical events and issues.
- Equip students with essential research and analytical skills that they can use to identify historical questions and make sense of the historical record.
- Awaken in students an appreciation for the historical contexts of ever-changing domestic and international issues including legacies of injustice and intolerance.
- Encourage students to apply their historical knowledge and analytical skills in order to serve their localities, the broader Christian community and the world at large.

Students may major in a BA degree in history; BS degree in history/systems; BS degree in social studies education; or BA degree in international studies. Our graduates pursue a variety of careers both directly and indirectly related to the study of history, including teaching, museum directing, archival and library science, ministry, law, government work, international mission and relief work, business, and journalism. Most educational leaders consider an undergraduate major in a liberal arts subject such as history to be a valuable basis for graduate school study in a variety of fields.

History (BA)

Students majoring in the department are advised to plan a program with a proper balance between American and world history courses. All students expecting to major in the department who do not have a strong history background on the secondary level should take HIS 103, 104, 124, and 125 as early in their program as possible. The bachelor of arts degree with a major in history requires 36 hours and two years of one foreign language.

International Studies

Program Director, Professor A. Winquist

The international studies program seeks to assist students in preparing for living and serving in the modern world. The focus of the international studies curriculum is upon the twentieth-century world and the humane disciplines more than the technical and scientific ones.

Majors from all disciplines who wish to develop a broad understanding of God's people throughout the world and are interested in careers in foreign service, humanitarian agencies, international law, overseas teaching, journalism and other mass media, translation, missions, or international business would clearly benefit from a major or minor in international studies.

The department of history administers the interdisciplinary international studies program. Students interested in earning a bachelor of arts degree major or minor in this program should consult the program director.

International Studies (BA)

The major requires completion of 40-42 hours in foundational courses, related field requirements, and a concentration area. Other requirements include a January interterm- or semester-international study experience, and a senior paper. In addition, majors must also complete two years of one foreign language.
