The Taylor Towel

On the night he was betrayed, Jesus took not only the bread and the cup as lasting symbols of His self-giving love, but also a servant’s towel. He stepped down from the seat of honor, took off his outer clothing, and put a towel around his waist and washed their feet. In so doing he offered his disciples a profound and radically counter-cultural demonstration of the very heart of God. The good life he invites his followers to participate in involves taking up the towel with Him.

The towel is more than a symbol at Taylor. It is a tangible expression of the mission of the University; reminding and challenging graduates that all they have and will accomplish of real significance comes by means of participation in the servant ministry of Jesus Christ—both in them and in the world.

More generally, the Taylor towel is a simple physical summary of the emphasis placed throughout the Taylor experience on serving one another in love by the enabling of God’s love for us. The towel has grown to be a central means for clarifying the ideals and aspirations for Christian community expressed in our Life Together Covenant; announcing our calling to a persevering love, the kind that seeks to foster wholly integrated followers of Christ within a community where brokenness is being redeemed.

The first thing I think about is how the towel reminds me of who God is. What Jesus does on that night of his betrayal is to illustrate for us what God is all about—giving his power to create and sustain life-giving relationship. This is the mission of Jesus that continues now through the Spirit. The towel invites me to share both the joy and pain of participating in this ongoing work of God.
