

Amy S. Blake, Ph.D.

Education Administration

Online Adjunct Instructor

amy_blake@taylor.edu

PERSONAL SUMMARY: I have approximately 10 years of experience working as an online adjunct for teacher preparation, T2T, and licensing programs. Special education and educational leadership are critical components within the educational arena, and I love serving educators as they develop and strengthen skills needed to be a successful teacher. With nearly 34 years of experience in education, I continue to feel honored to serve in this role at Taylor University as we work to prepare educators to model Christ's love for their students.

ACADEMIC QUALIFICATIONS:

Doctor of Philosophy

Education Administration

Indiana State University

May 2016

Superintendent Licensure

Indiana State University

May 2016

Director of Exceptional Needs Licensure

Ball State University

2008

Master of Arts – Special Education

Ball State University

1994

Bachelor of Science – Secondary Mathematics

Ball State University

1991

CAREER HISTORY:

Online Adjunct Instructor

Taylor University

Special Education Department (SED)

January 2022 - Present

Director of Special Education

New Castle Area Special Services

New Castle Community School Corporation

July 2010 – July 2026